THE YEAR WE FOLLOW GOD, NOT COMFORT

Kara B.

The enemy is thrilled when we make choices based solely on what seems reasonable in our own understanding rather than seeking God's wisdom. Scripture reminds us, "Lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways acknowledge Him, and He will direct your paths."

We'll continue to miss the mark if we shape our lives around what feels comfortable—whether to us or to others. What if God is calling us into something completely different... something beyond our comfort, beyond our experience? He's not looking for our qualifications; He's looking for our willingness to seek Him first and follow His lead.

As we step into this new year, let's lay down our dreams, plans, goals, and passions—and choose to seek the Kingdom and His righteousness before anything else. When we do, everything we truly need will be added to us.
