

MANNA

THE MISSION STILL STANDS

Kara B.

There's a scene from an 80's film where the main character journeys through a strange world to rescue her baby brother taken by an adversary. Time is running out. As she gets closer, the enemy sends someone familiar with something meant to make her forget her mission.

In many ways, this is what the enemy tries to do to us. Through distractions—people, media, entertainment, and life's pressures—our focus can slowly shift away from the mission God has given us.

Yet Jesus was clear about our purpose. In John 17:20–26, He prayed that believers would be united in Him so the world would know the Father sent Him. In Mark 16:15–18, He commands His followers to go into all the world and preach the gospel. Are we still focused on the mission, or have distractions caused us to forget why we were sent?
